

Advance Detail of Co. A Departs For Camp Forrest, Tenn.

Three Privates Driving
Motor Vehicles to the Training Ground

Members of Co. A, 129th infantry, 33rd division, United States Army, who are billeted at the Dixon state armory awaiting enlistment next Wednesday morning for Camp Forrest, Tenn., where they will spend at least a year in intensive training, were again given a week-end "vacation" by First Lieut. Wayne Wolfe, commanding officer, who issued a blanket leave-of-absence at noon today, good for all soldiers to do as they please until 6 o'clock Monday morning. The only interruption in the "vacation" will be roll call at the armory at 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

The advance detail of the company—Privates Morris Mead, Donald Peterson and Clarence Dewey—left Dixon Friday for Camp Forrest, driving the company truck and officers' cars. They went to Pontiac where they became members of a temporary service company, which was also joined by First Lieut. James Ketchin, formerly of Co. A, Kewanee. The service company left Pontiac this morning, resuming its trip to Camp Forrest.

Wednesday "Exodus Day"
Wednesday will witness the greatest exodus of Lee county men for military service in peacetime history—the departure of 142 youths for service in the military branch of their government.

Leaving for Camp Forrest, Tulahoma, Tenn., at 11 a. m. will be Company A, comprising five officers and 97 enlisted men. Earlier that morning 40 draftees under the selective service act will enter train for Chicago at 5:30 o'clock. Twenty conscripts each from draft board No. 1 (Dixon) and draft board No. 2 (Amboy) have been called into service.

The call on Wednesday will bring the total of Lee county men who have been inducted into the U. S. army since June, 1940, to 369.

From June 1 to Nov. 1, 1940, 197 youths volunteered at the local recruiting office for a period of three years. The selective service act, which went into effect in November, has drawn 70 men from Lee county, 33 from draft board No. 1 and 37 from draft board No. 2. The remaining 102 men comprise the 33rd division unit.

-Silk Shirt Days' of '17-'18 Tabooed

Indianapolis, March 15—(AP)—Russell G. Creviston of Chicago, national defense liaison man for the National Association of Manufacturers, says leaders are determined to carry out the defense program with "the least possible dislocation of our economy."

"Prices are not going to soar," he told the Producers' Council Club of Indiana yesterday. "We are not going to experience the silk shirt days of 1917 and 1918."

Creviston predicted that with collective action "we can keep prices down in order to keep our market and at the same time meet the needs of the government."

He said the country was not taking the defense program seriously.

"We must take it seriously," he went on, "for we are on an all-out program to win this war and defeat the totalitarian governments."

"The thing for business to do is to get behind the game," he added, "the quicker the better."

He said the defense program as it stood was "just about half of what we will have to do eventually."

An army of 4,000,000 is needed, Creviston went on, and the manufacturing output of 1939 must be doubled this year and the 1941 production increased 50 per cent in 1942.

Surprises Galore Assured Patrons Dixon Auto Show

The 1941 automobile—a primary American interest undiverted and undiminished by news and propaganda from and about Europe—will appear glittering and fashion-conscious at Dixon's big three-day Auto Show, which is to be staged at the Dixon armory on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 21-23.

Afternoon sessions will open at 2 o'clock and conclude at 5; and evening programs will get underway at 7, continuing until 11. According to present plans of the Dixon Automobile Dealers' committee, each afternoon program will be highlighted with a half-hour of exciting surprises; and every evening session will offer entertainment of extraordinary interest at 8:30 and again at 9:30.

In addition to the Prairie Sweethearts, Essie and Kay, of the WLS Barn Show unit, a veteran of stage and radio—Uncle Tom Corwine—will lend his vocal accomplishments to the cause of merriment and diversion.

Turn Uncle Tom loose in a barnyard, and he's almost sure to drive all the animals crazy, because he beats them at their own game. He provides the fighting dogs and cats, the cows, and the cackling hens that help make the WLS National Barn Dance Show true to character. Easter Service Atop Bald Knob Goes on Air

Makanda, Ill., March 15—(AP)—The hilltop Easter service will be held again this year on Bald Knob in Union county, which rises high above Ozark hills in that section of the Shawnee national forest.

Wayman Presley, one of the sponsors of the service, announced today that the Egyptian Choral Club, Southern Illinois' best-known choral group, directed by Frank E. Trobaugh of West Frankfort, and Dr. John W. Holland, who conducts the "Little Brown Church of the Air" over WLS, Chicago radio station, will participate in the program. WLS will broadcast the service.

The hilltop service has been attended by constantly-growing crowds and Presley predicted that 15,000 would gather for the ceremony next month.

Today's Income Tax Payments May Reach a Total of Billion Dollars

Washington, March 15—(AP)—Millions of income taxpayers throughout the country kept postal clerks working at top speed and jammed internal revenue collectors' offices today piling up payments toward a total expected to exceed that of any previous single day.

The deadline for taxes on 1940 income falls at midnight. Some authorities believed that the last-day payers among the 15,000,000 individuals and more than 500,000 corporations due to make returns this year would boost the day's take for the government close to the billion-dollar mark.

The high total was indicated by the fact that treasury officials had estimated collections for the month, including post-deadline payments, more than $1,000,-

Legion Committee Finds Increasing Delays in Defense

Says Nation is Unready
to Wage Effective
War at Present

Indianapolis, March 15—(AP)—The American Legion's national defense committee asserts that its study of the U. S. rearmament program disclosed "interruptions to defense production are increasing."

The results of the study were reported to the Legion's executive committee, which ended a two-day special meeting at national headquarters today.

A subcommittee of the defense group, whose chairman is Warren H. Atherton of Stockton, Calif., interviewed congressmen and officials of the Army, Navy and Maritime Commission this week.

"We were advised by a war department official that four defense projects were tied up by jurisdictional strikes," the committee reported. "They were construction projects at the Watertown arsenal, Wright field, the tank arsenal at Detroit and the additions to the Walter Reed hospital (Washington, D. C.)."

The report added that "much important war work in private plants was being delayed because of controversies between employer and employee."

"The number of strikes in effect in March," it continued, "has doubled over those in effect in January."

Deplore Initiation Fees
"We also deplore," the committee said, "the practice of requiring employees on temporary contracts to pay high initiation fees or work permit charges, even though they may be union members in their home localities."

It said that many hundreds employed at the Charlestown, Ind., powder plant were required to pay $50 to qualify for work.

The report also set forth that the nation was "not prepared to wage effective war today" because of "the neglect of 20 years."

"In spite of all that a united people can do to speed our preparedness effort, our army cannot train and equip an army of a million and a half until the spring of 1942, it said.

"Our air force will not have the planes and pilots to meet a major foe until the summer of 1942. Our two-ocean navy will not be com-

Slashing Affair in St. Charles School

Geneva, Ill., March 15—(AP)—Two inmates of the St. Charles School for Boys were held today on charges of assault with a deadly weapon after another prisoner had been slashed with a butcher knife.

John Demitrelis, 16, of Chicago, and William Davis, 18, of Harrisburg, Ill., were arrested Thursday night by deputy sheriffs summoned by school attendants.

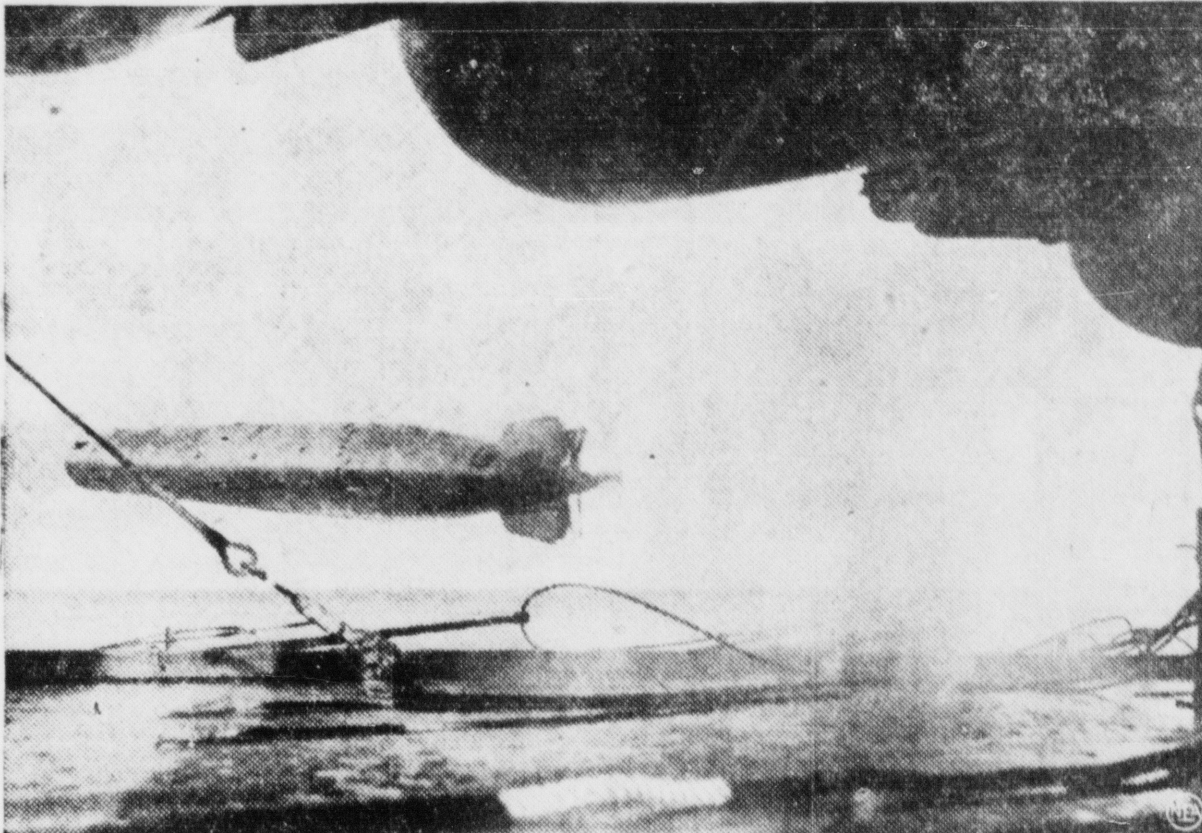

The deputies, Wilbur Seidel and Conrad Hoaglund, said the youngsters became involved in a quarrel with another youth over the possession of a pair of stolen earmuffs.

Robert Nolan, 18, an inmate, was slashed on the left hand and arm before Demitrelis and Davis were locked in a basement by attendants.

Armed with the butcher knife and a broken bottle, the two youths stayed in the basement from Wednesday night until Thursday night, defying attendants to get them out, the deputy said.

Demitrelis was sent to the school 36 months ago for burglary. Davis is serving a second term for delinquency.

"Scotty" of Death Valley Fame Cheat, Federal Judge Says

Los Angeles, March 15—(AP)—Federal Judge Ben Harrison has called Death Valley Scott "a confessed cheat," but the imperturbable desert rat merely commented to a friend:

"If he thinks I am a fake, I wonder if he would accept an invitation to go out in the rocks on a mule with me. Maybe I might show him something."

Judge Harrison has taken under submission for at least 25 days the suit of Julian M. Gerard of New York for an accounting on an old grubstake claim agreement. Gerard seeks a 22½ per cent interest in Scott's mine returns since 1907.

After Gerard rested his case, Judge Harrison proposed that, rather than hear testimony which the defense offered to present, the parties submit briefs and answers over a 25-day period as to whether Gerard could show claim to property of Scott's partner, Albert M. Johnson.

"I feel the plaintiff has been wronged," said the judge. "Scotty took Gerard for a cleaning. But I don't believe there is any property upon which an equity judgment would act."

Judge Harrison said no evidence had been produced that Scotty owned a mine or had an interest in any property in Death Valley, the famous castle there belonging to Johnson.

Officers Who Killed Draft Evader Freed

Pontiac, Ill., March 15—(AP)—Exonerated of two law enforcement officers who shot and killed Ernest Raymond Elsie when the 22-year-old farm youth resisted arrest on a draft evading charge was recommended yesterday by a coroner's jury.

The jury commended the officers, Deputy U. S. Marshal Eugene Ahrends of Peoria, and Deputy Sheriff Robert Jones of Livingston county, for performance of duty "in the face of a difficult situation."

Both officers suffered stab wounds during a fight with young Elsie and his father, Martin, at the latter's farm home January 22. Martin Elsie suffered a bullet wound.

The elder Elsie, who has been charged with assault with intent to kill, is recovering in a Pontiac hospital. In a deposition he testified that the attack on the officer was not premeditated.

100,000 of Mechanized British Troops Said to Have Landed in Greece

The War Today!

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

Herr Hitler's spring blitzkrieg seems to have taken on a fair amount of reverse English, judging from the fierceness with which the Royal Air Force is meeting the assault and countering with devastating raids into Germany.

The speed with which this crucial engagement is opening gives a clear indication of the underlying strategy. The outcome pivots on the point of whether American aid can reach Britain before Hitler can knock her out.

Britain can't win without our help. Thus the speed with which we produce our all-out aid, and Britain's capability of keeping the Atlantic shipping lanes open, will govern the outcome.

Britain's First Lord of the Admiralty, A. V. Alexander, declared yesterday that a British victor "will not only be certain—it will be quick," if the empire can hang on until American aid is received. He added that Britain is "facing perhaps the most crucial stage of the war, in which the navy is called upon to play a very great part."

He might have added that the war likely will be won or lost in this phase of the Battle of Britain out of which has grown the so-called Battle of the Atlantic. This doesn't necessarily mean that the conflict will be finished, but it does mean that the coming of summer may see the number of one side or the other up.

Whether the First Lord is rather optimistic in predicting a quick British victory remains to be seen. Hitler might win a quick victory if Britain doesn't get our help soon enough, and if he has enough reserve power for the knockout. But he might lose the Battle of Britain and still hang on for a

The Germans again last night considerably period. The heavily bombed the great ships yards along the River Clyde in Scotland. Here again is emphasized the Battle of the Atlantic, for the purpose of the Nazis is to prevent the British from replacing ships which the U-boats sink.

This submarine campaign has become the big problem of the moment for the British. The Royal Air Force has been holding its own against the Nazi airmen, but Britain needs more equipment to cope with the U-boat scourge which is threatening to sever the shipping lanes and thus halt American aid.

British Minister of Shipping Cross yesterday admitted: "I say frankly that we are going to be faced with a really hard struggle at sea this year." And last night the admiralty announced the appointment of Admiral Sir Percy Noble as commander in chief of the western approaches to Britain.

These western approaches are vital for movement of American supplies to Britain, since her big eastern and southern ports have been largely put out of action for trans-Atlantic shipping because of the proximity of the German bases along the channel. Most of our aid must enter through the west.

One of the greatest weaknesses of the British defense for this line to America is lack of Irish naval bases. In the World war these bases played an important part in the allied defeat of the German submarine campaign. Now the British lack of these bases is a tremendous asset to Hitler.

The British Press Association, which is close to the government, predicts a "titanic struggle" over these sea-lanes. Certain it is that a lot of our handiwork will find a place in Davy Jones' locker before the fight is finished.

With Strict Orders

Wichita, Kan., March 15—(AP)—Selective service officials received strict orders to use only black or red ink in their classification books. Accompanying the order was a shipment of blue ink.

More than 600 persons will be in the President's immediate audience, including Secretary Hull and other cabinet members, Supreme Court Justices, Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, and other diplomats. Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential nominee; members of Congress, and newsmen.

The firm, founded 100 years ago to turn out plow shares, already has manufactured 400 tanks of 25,000 pounds each and armed with four machine guns and 37 millimeter guns. It has orders for 3,200 more, 50 of which are ready. Only three machines are being built daily but this is expected to be stepped up to 10 or more.

Neutral Diplomats in Balkans Authority for this Report

(By The Associated Press)

The reported landing of nearly 100,000 mechanized British troops in southern Greece and the tuning up of hundreds of German warplanes at Bulgarian airports indicated a new Balkan war front was in the making today.

Neutral diplomats arriving at Belgrade from Athens told of the disembarkation of the Britons at five ports—and said they expected both British and Greeks to deny it officially for strategic reasons within 12 hours.

The ports were not named, but Salonika has been mentioned most frequently in speculation as to how a German thrust against eastern Greece might be most effectively met. Flame-throwing machines, tanks and anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns were mentioned among items of British equipment.

German circles asserted the Balkan crisis was "reaching a critical stage" and swastika-marked fighting, bombing and transport planes were wheeled from newly-occupied hangars.

Heavy Blows Across Channel
Air raiders exchanged heavy blows across the English channel and the North sea in a continuation of the stepped-up campaigns which both Britain and Germany launched after enactment of the British-aid bill in Washington Tuesday.

British warplanes blasted at such industrial centers as Gelsenkirchen, Duesseldorf and Rotterdam. The German high command declared damage to German industries "was negligible." It reported some civilians were killed or injured. The British acknowledged loss of two of the raiding planes.

Striking from the channel coast to northwest Scotland, German crews raided Glasgow, Sheffield, London, Leeds, Plymouth, and Southampton, leaving a trail of property damage and casualties. The high command announced the sinking of two merchant vessels totalling 11,000 tons off Britain's east coast.

The British said four Nazi bombers were shot down in the raiding, which was described officially as "on a considerable scale and spread over most parts of the country." Informed quarters in Berlin said one British raider was downed in western Germany.

Glasgow Bomber Again
It was the second successive night of bombing for the Glasgow area, and a large number of casualties, including some dead, was reported from that city and nearby communities along the Clyde. A British communiqué said last night's attack was not as heavy as that of the preceding night, however.

London had a shower of fire-bombs but most of them were ex-

Armor Plate Maker Builds Test Range

Berwick, Pa., March 15—(AP)—A firing range—described by officials of the American Car & Foundry Company as the first civilian range ever built to test armor plate by direct gunfire—is ready to help speed production of fighting tanks for Uncle Sam's army.

The company, with permission of the war department, has installed the range at its 250-acre plant where workmen toll 24 hours daily turning out armament materials.

Instead of sending armor plate to army testing grounds at Aberdeen, Md. and Rock Island, Ill., workers truck it into a 338-foot long concrete building where projectiles from field pieces and machine-gun bullets are hurled at the material.

Army officials direct the firing from a distance of 100 yards, using 18-inch shells in the heavy weapons while instruments record resistance to penetration and shock. Two or three pieces of plate from each batch of 15,000 pounds are tested. If these are not satisfactory the entire batch is junked. Few rejections have been reported.

MODERNIZATION

FOUNDATIONS AND PAVEMENTS

By Paul T. Haagen

There is an old saying that a house is only as good as its foundation, and so when you build your house be sure that there is a solid foundation wall and footings under it.

The footings should be flat on the bottom and of concrete, and of sufficient depth to bear the load from the wall. On top of the footings the foundation walls are built. They should be deep enough to go beneath the freezing line and may be made of poured concrete, or of concrete blocks.

In some cases the concrete block wall should be reinforced, particularly if there is an earth pressure against the block wall and a basement on one side. This is easily done with reinforcing rods placed in the cells of the concrete blocks with concrete poured around them.

It is advisable to have air spaces in the wall and of course if there is a basement, the outside wall should be waterproofed.

In older houses the foundation underpinning sometimes needs repairing in the spring. This is a relatively simple thing to do if it is not allowed to go too long. Also the sidewalks and chimney caps will need repairing after a hard winter, and in many cases brickwork will need repointing. A good mason can repair and replace these items which should not be allowed to deteriorate.

PLASTERING

The first coat of plaster should be applied with considerable force in order to squeeze the material into the spaces between the laths and up against the lath so the plaster will hold firmly. Good troweling uses up more material than poor work, and this should be allowed for.

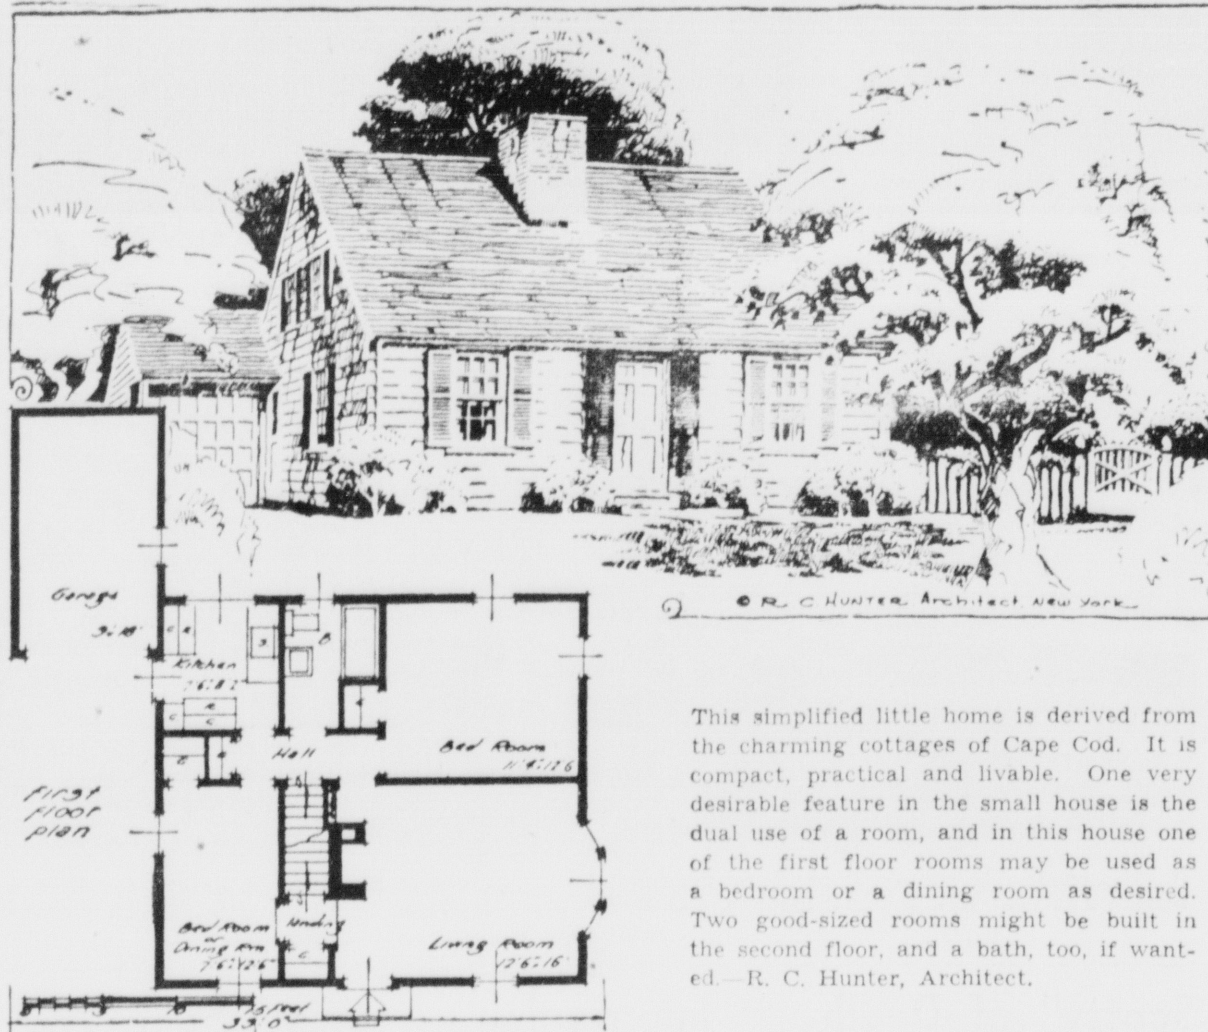

All coats of plaster should be well troweled and the last coat should be evenly applied over the entire surface. If plaster is uneven the carpenters cannot apply window casings, baseboards, etc. tightly because of the uneven surface.

SIMPLIFIED HOME

This simplified little home is derived from the charming cottages of Cape Cod. It is compact, practical and livable. One very desirable feature in the small house is the dual use of a room, and in this house one of the first floor rooms may be used as a bedroom or a dining room as desired. Two good-sized rooms might be built in the second floor, and a bath, too, if wanted. — R. C. Hunter, Architect.

BETTER DESIGN SEEN BY FHA

An alliance long advocated by the Federal Housing Administration—attractive design, sound construction standards, and a safe system of financing—appears to be gaining solid foundation in the home-building industry, according to FHA officials.

Any forward movement involving the important factors of design, good materials, and a safe financing system is a step in the right direction, officials assert. A number of building materials manufacturers in various parts of the country have been conducting ambitious magazine advertising programs calling attention to the importance of design, and the right kind of financing for homes, as well as the importance of good materials.

Interest in better home design and better home construction is resulting in a union of three important individuals in the construction of good homes—the builder, the building-material man, and the financing agent—FHA officials say.

The FHA has found that a great many builders and building-material dealers are developing their campaigns around the theme that their homes and their materials meet Federal Housing Administration standards. Such promotional activities contribute greatly to the development of better communities and better neighborhoods, according to the FHA.

REFRIGERATOR NEEDS SPACE ABOVE

If a kitchen cabinet is to be installed over a mechanical refrigerator, it must be hung so that there is at least six inches of space between the top of the refrigerator and the bottom of the cabinet. This is to allow the heated air from the refrigerator to escape.

PUTTY

Don't overlook the fact that nail holes must be puttied up before the woodwork is painted. The putty should be applied on top of the priming coat, as putty sticks only to painted surfaces and will not adhere to unpainted wood.

TERMITE

One of the indications of the presence of termites in a building is the emigration of the termites from the building in the spring and fall. These will be winged insects. Another sign is the discovery of the branching shelter tubes on the foundation wall, reaching up from the ground to the wood-work over the surface of brick, stone or concrete. Damage to a building will usually be indicated by the sagging of the basement floor or studding.

WATER SOFTENING

There is a tried and proven system of softening the water used throughout your house so you may have clear, iron-free and suds-producing water from any faucet instantly. This is such a luxury and comfort that it is worth considering for these benefits alone, and in addition, it soon saves its cost of installation in the lesser quantity of soap used, the lesser wear and tear on linens washed in the softened water, the saving in plumbing repairs, and the increased efficiency and speed with which dishes, laundry and cleaning of all kinds about the house may be accomplished. Why not look into this simple appliance today and give your family a real treat?

OVEN LIGHTING

In the new electric ranges for your kitchen, you will find a very convenient and welcome new improvement—a light which automatically goes on when the oven door is opened. It is so placed that the oven is lighted in all corners, and is covered with smooth glass flush with the back wall so it may be easily wiped off and kept clean.

PRIMING COAT

The priming coat of paint should be quite thin and contain a high percentage of oil. The main purpose of this first coat is to soak well into the wood—which cannot be achieved by the use of thick paint. The second coat should be a little thicker than the first.

Canada comprises approximately 27 per cent of the British Commonwealth.

PREVENT ACCIDENTS BY CONSTANT CARE

Constant watchfulness on the part of the home owner will aid in large measure the protection of his investment. And consistent vigilance will also safeguard him against the danger of accidents occurring on his premises.

Adequate inspections, made periodically, will prevent casualties that may result from falling of bricks, stone trimmings, and other materials loosened through age and weathering.

Reasonable precautions in the nature of repair work financed with funds obtained from private lending institutions approved by the Federal Housing Administration under its Modernization Credit Plan, will aid in the prevention of accidents and in the maintenance of property in a satisfactory condition.

STUCCO OR BRICK VENEER

A house, the outside walls of which are covered with stucco or brick veneer, may have a structural outside frame wall much the same as in a frame building except for the finishing material on the outside of the walls. With a stucco or cement finish, the stucco is applied on to expanded metal lath or wire mesh, firmly attached to the wood framing. In brick veneer the brick facing is attached to the wood frame on the outside by means of metal ties fastened to the frame and built into the brick joints of the brick facing.

Insulation is as advisable in this type of construction as in any other.

PLYWOOD

Decorators have found in painting plywood that the grain shows up too clearly. There are new treatments to hide this grain.

Are your basement stairs safe?

ELECTRIC WIRING

FOR YOUNG MODERNS

By Paul T. Haagen

One of the major factors that enter into the construction of a new house is the electric wiring and the location of base plugs and convenience outlets. Every house should have plenty of outlets because after all it does not cost very much to put in a few additional outlets when building, and when the great advances and use of electrical appliances such as vacuum sweepers, radios and lamps of all sorts is considered, it would be wise to think of future possible developments and allow for extra convenience outlets.

So many of the new appliances such as refrigerators, stoves, roasters, mixers, etc., have been developed the last few years until people are using more of such equipment and so the demand on the wiring makes a far greater load than was formerly the case. Therefore provide more convenience outlets.

Switches should be arranged so that lamps may be operated from the best location when one enters a room, and too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the proper consideration of the outlet locations because a house built even ten years ago has become outdated for lack of convenience outlets.

It would be a very wise consideration, in planning your house, to visit the utility company that serves your community to find out exactly what is needed in the way of service to the house—meters, cutout boxes, etc. Your utility company will be glad to cooperate with you in this respect. It will advise you of all the important new developments.

ARE FLOORS SOUND?

A building may not be as solid and sound as it should be. Perhaps a floor needs reinforcing—new posts and ceiling joists. Plaster on the underside of ceilings will make them fire-resisting.

TILE

Tile, especially the colored tiles being so much used today, frequently warp in their baking and are out of square, some slightly smaller than others. For this reason it is necessary for the mechanics laying them to intelligently work them into their place and try to take up the difference in size by cleverly arranging the mortar joints. When properly laid the tile looks well even though slight irregularities in size and shape. But a reasonable amount of this deviation adds to the interest of the texture and it is perhaps a more pleasing effect than if the tiles were all perfect in shape and size.

AIR-CONDITIONING

A simple method of improving the air-conditioning in a house during the summer is quite practical with little or no expenditure of money. Use the cooler air from the basement, thereby tempering the summer heat in the house. By opening the windows or the louvers in the attic or one window on the second floor, and opening the fire box door of the furnace, there will be a constant flow of cool basement air to the upper rooms.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:
"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even distort the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Demand for Convoys

It was predicted, when the neutrality bill was amended more than a year ago to permit sale of American munitions overseas, that the revision would have certain logical consequences. One of these would be a demand for credit, for it was known Britain and France combined did not have the resources in this country to purchase material for a major war. The other forecast was that we should be called upon to convoy munitions overseas, for it was reasonable to suppose that if the allies couldn't transport their goods safely in 1917, they would not be able to do so in these days.

The demand for credit, of course, has not been presented as a demand for a new loan. To lend money to Britain would require revision of the Johnson act. But the Johnson act contained a loophole large enough to permit passage of fifty destroyers in a barter arrangement, and under the new lend-lease act we shall experiment with certain battleships to see if they can be propelled through the loophole.

All this is aside from the moral obligation we owe to British civilians who are being bombed out of their homes. It will be remembered that when revision of the neutrality act was considered, we were assured the revision was to make us "more truly neutral."

Now comes the convoy question. American production of munitions and planes has been increased enormously, and according to one observer writing in the Christian Science Monitor, we shall soon see our docks piled high with goods which the British need, but can't get through the German counter-blockade in the desired quantities. These include pursuit planes and dive bombers, which can't be flown across the Atlantic like the long-range bombers.

Now it would do us little good to become the arsenal of democracy if democracy can't come to the arsenal and get the munitions. It wouldn't save democracy to have our docks cluttered with valuable gadgets and munitions which overseas democracy can't use. If these things are to be used against the enemies of democracy, they must be transported to where the enemies of democracy are operating.

So we shall have an increasing demand for the convey of these munitions, etc., to the shores of England or wherever they are required.

One step leads to another, and of course the ultimate destination is war—although many did not foresee that when we were assured revision of the neutrality act was to make us "more truly neutral."

The above-board policy in the beginning would have been to decide, before we took the first step to war, whether we wanted war or not. The issues were as plain then as they are today.

This newspaper opposed enactment of the original neutrality law on the ground that it tied our hands and was a surrender of sovereignty. Then we opposed its repeal on the theory that since the demand came after the war started, it was an unethical act. We couldn't swallow the theory that repeal of a neutrality act made us more truly neutral. And in that we seem to have had the right notion, judging by recent history.

Sounds Undemocratic, But—

Word that the two major political parties spent nearly 22 million dollars in the last general election campaign seems to indicate that the Hatch act did not accomplish all that was expected.

The only objection to the expenditure of large sums to secure election of various candidates is that the candidate with the most money to spend is likely to win; but possession of the most money doesn't make him the greatest statesman.

Direct election of United States senators has done much to corrupt American politics. Before that happy development senators were chosen indirectly by state legislatures or by governors, and these acted as a check on the popularly-elected representatives, who seldom had much money to spend anyhow.

The old system of selecting senators had advantages that become more apparent, now that its disadvantages have been eliminated. A return to the old system might be undemocratic, but the purchase of votes or the implied promise of federal largess in return for support isn't so hot, either.

World in False-Face

He runs a costume rental agency which has prospered for 20 years. But 1941 to date is about his worst season. A whole generation of people is growing up who have never been to a masked ball, never known the gaiety of fine and exotic clothes, the thrill of the mask lifted at midnight.

Why, we asked? "The psychology of masquerading," he mused, "was probably grounded in an attempt to become for the moment someone else, someone more glamorous, just for an evening. But the world's too small for that now. Who wants to be an Italian flower girl or a Japanese Mikado today? You know they aren't having any better time than we are."

There you are. Sometimes we think we are having a thin time, what with the draft, and taxes, and all. If you think anybody else is having a better time—well, name two.

Anybody who says he doesn't love anybody forgets himself.

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, March 14—Mussolini ordered our consuls out of Palermo and Naples to keep them from noting the embarkation of German troops to Africa from those ports.

Hitler shipped a German mechanized unit of 10,000 to 12,000 men from there across to Africa at night about two weeks ago. They left their heavy tanks behind in Italy but probably took 200 light tanks (these use one-third as much gas as the big ones.) A second and larger mechanized unit followed a week ago. Now Hitler may have 30,000 troops ready to face the British in Africa and the movement is continuing. His orders call for 100,000 to be dispatched in all and he can undoubtedly get them through the British Mediterranean sea lines at night.

The British would be in Tripoli now if it were not for this reinforcement of the defeated Italians and their own detachments sent to Greece. As it is, they are likely to fall back on Bengasi and try merely to hold their own. This they should be able to do with difficult spring weather coming up, alternating between torrential downpours and heat in the desert.

The news dispatches tell of hordes of British troops pouring into Salonika, but no one here believes that dangerous territory of northeastern Greece can be held. The Anglo-Greek line of resistance to the Germans will have to fall back to the mountains of old Greece, southwestward. Hopes that they can even hold this better defensive line are not high.

Military odds strongly favor success for a German drive through Greece to the southernmost tip. The British in that case would have to retreat to Crete and then to the Suez.

Another German stuka nest has been set up on Rhodes and is sowing aerial mines in the narrow Suez canal at night. One British ship was sunk by this means in such a way that it had to be dynamited out before the channel could be cleared. Three or four British supply ships have hit these mines. The Suez is open and functioning "with reasonable efficiency" but not near 100 per cent.

Best the British can hope to do is to hang on against a growing menace to that single canal bottleneck which is their Near East lifeline.

The official hints that Mussolini is at the front may have been designed to offset the private reports to officials here that Il Duce's health has faded. He has been drinking heavily the past few months. The Germans are policing Italy from the Brenner Pass to Palermo.

The public has a false impression of the authority of Mr. Knudsen, Mr. Stettinius, and the other business men in the Office of Production Management.

It is now clear they do not even control their own publicity men. A note has been sent to editors by the defense publicity organization informing them of a new independent publicity setup under the office of Emergency Management. In control of all defense publicity will be Robert Horton, friend of the president's information adviser, Lovell Mellett.

This publicity bureau will assign staff men to OPM, the priorities board, and other defense organizations. But it now develops that the old Horton regime in OPM was never under control of Knudsen or the DPM.

The executive order under which it was established made it responsible for money and personnel only to the OEM, which is the top holding company composed solely of Roosevelt and another administrative assistant, William H. McReynolds.

The mills of justice also grind slowly. The nazi agent, Manfred Zapp of Trans-Ocean News Service, was indicted March 12, five months after full exposure of his activities in this column October 14, 15, 16 and 22, and the evidence was dug up by the Dies committee several weeks before that.

BY EDITH ELLINGTON

YESTERDAY: Reassured by her new-found friend, Beatrice makes it safely to the station. She finds herself admiring the courage of these working people, she has never known. As they walk along the street, the girl asks where Beatrice works. She admits she is jobless. The girl works at Huntington's—Beatrice's own store—suggests they might hire Beatrice there!

INTRODUCING BEE DAVIS

CHAPTER VI

FOR a moment, Beatrice Huntington Davenport could only stare at this slim, strange girl with the dark chestnut hair and the eagerly helpful eyes. She felt an insane impulse to giggle. "Imagine her leading me into the personnel office at the store! Asking them to give me a job! They'd recognize me immediately!"

But then, dizzily, she thought, "Recognize me? Would they? Who has ever seen me at that store? Only the French vendeuse in the Import Salon. And one or two models who have tried on numbers for me..."

It seemed incredible, but as she searched her mind, she realized that it was true. Outside of Mile Mathilde, with her thin sallow face and her animated hands, there was no one in the entire eight floors of Huntington's who, meeting her on the street, could say positively, "There's Miss Davenport." Even the general superintendent, at whose pictured face she had looked this morning, had never seen her.

She went back to the last time she'd been in the store. She remembered walking from the car through the street floor, getting into the elevator. She'd worn her silver fox greatcoat, but there'd been another customer in the elevator in silver fox, too.

On the fifth floor, in the salon, there'd been a discreet flutter because Mile Mathilde had whispered, "Miss Davenport is here." The girl she had met in the subway was asking curiously, "What's the matter? Don't you like the idea of Huntington's?"

"I've never sold anything," Beatrice said warily. "I—I'm a stenographer, really."

"Don't fret," said the girl. "We have a lovely training department. Whether you've ever sold anything or not, Huntington's makes you take the training course. They make you come in at 8 o'clock—and you don't get paid extra, either—so you can have 45 minutes before the store opens, listening to the Huntington notions on store service."

their own way of doing things."

THEY were on Fulton street now. Neon lights glittered—red, blue and green. Beatrice saw the signs of Chinese restaurants, dance halls, radio stores; the glittering canopy of a movie palace; lighted display windows. Overhead, an elevated train rumbled by. Fulton street was crowded. Cars and taxis made a tangle of traffic. Horns blared. She had never been here before. They went into a noisy cafeteria. A machine at the door yelped twice as the girl pulled a check for herself and one for Beatrice. She made her way, knowingly, to a stack of trays; selected knife and fork and spoon from an open rack beside the trays. Beatrice watched and did the same.

The long serving section was a revelation to Beatrice. You took your tray and slid it on the chromium bars past mounds of salads. At the coffee urns, you took one of the filled cups that slopped over a little as the attendant pushed it toward you. There were piles of Danish pastry, doughnuts, cupcakes. So much food confused Beatrice. Meekly, she took two sugared doughnuts because the girl took them.

They left the serving section then. Balancing their trays, they found a table on which the remnants of someone else's meal was still scattered.

"Boy!" called this amazing girl who worked in Huntington's. A shuffling man in a white coat approached, gathered up the soiled dishes, gave the table a half-hearted wipe, and departed.

"What do you say?" the girl asked, as she put sugar in her coffee. "Want to try my coffee, Huntington's?" She stirred her coffee, sipped it, made a face. "But you don't even know my name! I'm Toby Masters."

Beatrice balanced a spoonful of sugar over the bowl, carefully. "I—I'm Bee Davis," she answered steadily.

"Glad to know you, Bee!" They drank their coffee, dunked their doughnuts, and Beatrice felt a dizzy little recklessness seeping through her. "I wanted to live like they do," she thought. "Now I'm burning my bridges behind me."

But it was still so easy to go back, if she grew uncertain. Even now she could get up, leave this cafeteria, leave Toby Masters. She could hail a cab at the curb, tell the driver, "Park Avenue."

The tingling recklessness increased, became a fever.

"Don't go back," she told herself. "Burn more bridges. Cut the last retreat."

SHE looked across the table at Toby Masters, and said quietly, "It's nice of you to help me get a job, Toby. The only thing is—I don't know where I'll stay between now and tomorrow morning. You see, I—I was turned out of my room."

Toby Masters gasped. Her brown eyes regarded the other girl with a swift, warm sympathy. "You have no place to go? Oh, I never dreamed, on the subway. . . . I was watching you, you know. You seemed so sure of yourself. Almost—she smiled apologetically—"almost snobbish."

"I can see now that you were worried. I know how it is. When I'm worried, I walk along with my nose in the air, trying hard to look as if I owned the earth. So no one will guess I am worried."

She leaned forward confidentially. "Sometimes, when I'm awfully blue, I go into a store and try on fur coats!" Then she became very businesslike. "But you've got to have somewhere to go! Haven't you any money?"

With a pang, Beatrice remembered the roll of bills in her brown suede handbag. She said slowly, "I have some money. I—I've been afraid to spend it. I can't explain, exactly, but it was as if that money was all I had between myself and—and what-ever might happen. Do you see? So I didn't pay my room rent."

Toby Masters nodded. "I can understand that, too. When I was out of a job, I held out $20 and told myself no matter what happened I wouldn't touch it. That $20 was the last ditch fund. Not for a rainy day, but for a hurricane."

"That's the way I felt," Beatrice said.

"And of course you won't want to spend it until you actually get a job. I'm sure they'll take you at Huntington's. But just the same, we don't really know. No, you mustn't spend your last ditch fund. Look, I've got a little apartment in Flatbush. I share it with another girl. But we have a studio couch in the living room. Come and spend the night with us!"

"Oh, I couldn't impose! I had expected to p-pay for a room tonight, really I had."

"Well, now you don't have to!" Toby Masters got up, her eyes shining. She pushed her hat down more firmly on her glossy chestnut hair, grabbed the two punched checks and said, "Come on. We'll take the trolley to Flatbush. Wait till Vera sees what I picked up in a subway accident!"

NICE GOING, STERLING

Sterling last night won the championship of the Moline Sectional basketball tournament to carry the banner of the North Central conference into the quarter-finals Monday night—the highest step made by any circuit team. We want to be marked down as wishing Coach by Curtis Brandau and his boys the best of luck Monday night—and we imagine that you feel just about the same now that the Sterling-Dixon rivalry cooled off with the Dukes' victory over the foe in the Regional a week ago tonight.

NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS

Coach Rufus Dewitz, Mendota football mentor, collided with Fred Herr on Jefferson street and Pennsylvania avenue in Mendota yesterday about 4 o'clock. No one was injured. Mr. Herr claims he was blinded by the sun as he was en route west.

MATCH GAMES HERE

Tonight at 7 o'clock the Dixon 21's will meet the Oregon keggers in a special bowling event here. Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 the DeKalb 1. N. U. aggregation meets the Dixon 1. N. U. team on the local alleys and tomorrow night the Dixon Recreation All-Stars will meet the Spot Tavern crew of Rockford here.

WATCHING CENTRALIA

Tony Demjian, who managed the state hospital basketball team this season, is visiting in Equality and saw Centralia trim Pinckneyville in Mt. Vernon Wednesday night. He says they (Centralia) really have a "meat" team and all they say about Edleman is true. Tony planned to see the championship game last night.

OUT-OF-TOWN BOWLING MATCHES

Four matches with out-of-towners are scheduled for Dixon keggers tomorrow. At 2:30 the Plum Hollow team will meet the Belvidere quintet there and at 3:30 the Dixon Recreation team meets the Frank Pozzi team at Rockford. Tomorrow night at 7:30 the Williams DeSoto team meets the Maria's Cafe at Rockford. Both Rockford matches are to be rolled on the St. Anthony's alleys.

AIN'T IT THE TRUTH?

One of our very best pals who happens to be a Republican sent us a card today with the message: "Just heard Freeport won the game last night. I guess everything is going Democratic."

QUOTE AND UNQUOTE

George Schunk, Freeport scribe, writes of the Dixon-Freeport game Thursday night: "The game in retrospect was a game of sputts and Freeport was the team that happened to be spurring at the time the final gun sounded. There was little to choose between the two clubs but greater stamina and newly-found ability to come back gave the Allen charges a glorious triumph."

DIXON TEAMS DEFEATED

The light and heavyweight basketball teams of the Dixon Squadron No. 12, Sons of the American Legion were defeated by the Kankakee clubs in the first round of the state finals last night at Onarga, Ill. The Dixon lightweights lost, 40 to 25, and the heavies were defeated 33 to 21. Playing for the heavyweights of Dixon were Richard Arnold, John Loftus, Walter Knack, Bill Goff, Edmond and Wayne Teder. The lightweights were: Don Bowers, Sostant Pierre, Ted Mason, Arthur Toffe, Bill Goff, Jack Kennedy, John Herrington, Bob Jacobson, "Mondy" Mondlock.

Court House Wins Bowling Feature With Supervisors

Training Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

Lakeland, Fla.—The Cleveland Indians

are having their little troubles. Lou Boudreau is nursing a sore arm and has played in only three innings of each of the past two exhibitions. Ken Keltner is suffering from sinus trouble, his annual spring ailment, and had to be replaced yesterday by Russ Peters.

Monterey, Mexico—The St. Louis Browns and Boston Bees brought an all-major league exhibition series to Mexico for the first time in history today.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Johnny Mize

the holdout slugger who is living in a cottage only a dozen miles from the St. Louis Cardinals' camp, was expected to confer with club officials today.

Los Angeles—Old Charley Root

was assigned to the pitching box but six rookies were in the lineup of the Chicago Cubs which Manager Jimmy Wilson planned to start against the Philadelphia Athletics in the Bruins' first exhibition today.

Lakeland, Fla.—Hal Manders

rookie pitcher of the Detroit Tigers, who is a cousin and great admirer of Bob Feller, is naming his baby son for the Cleveland star. Manders learned yesterday that his wife had given birth to a seven-pound boy at the home of her parents in Evansville, Ind.

Orlando, Fla.—Ernie Lombardi's

signature didn't end the Cincinnati Reds' backstopping problems. The big catcher still is limping from the ankle he injured late last season. Dick West, the rookie touted as a possible successor to the regular job, has shown an alarming weakness on high, twisting fouls.

Los Angeles—The play of Pete Suder rookie third sacker, has won that praise of everyone connected with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Butler, Michigan State Threatened in Relays Today

Indiana, March 15—(AP)—Both team champions—Michigan in the university division and Butler in the college group—were threatened with dethronement today as more than 300 athletes from 24 schools clashed in the ninth annual Butler Indoor Relays.

Michigan has topped the university section for seven consecutive years but Indiana was the ranking favorite this year, with Notre Dame also considered a threat.

Kansas State Teachers of Pittsburg, Kas., appeared to be the major opposition to the Butler Bulldogs in the college division. Michigan Normal also was considered a possible victor over Butler.

The University of Pittsburgh, previously considered a title possibility in the university division, faded out of the championship picture when the Panthers scratched all their relay race combinations last night.

Notre Dame and Michigan entered men in every event for which they were eligible. Indiana entries will compete in most individual events but were expected to pile up most points in relay races.

Expect New Records

A maximum of four new meet records was anticipated. The Butler record of 17:49.8 for the four mile relay was expected to fall, since Indiana's quartet of milers already has cut that time by 15 seconds.

Indiana, Michigan, and Notre Dame were given a chance of beating the meet record of 3:20.4 for the mile relay, held by Michigan.

In the college division Butler was considered likely to beat its own record of 3:45.8 for the sprint medley and Michigan Normal to better the mark of 10:32 for the distance medley.

Finals in all events will be held tonight, with the trials in the 60-yard dash, 80-yard high and low hurdles, and the shot put scheduled for this afternoon.

Golden Gloves Boxers to Battle Here Soon

Sterling to Meet Athens Monday in Quarter-Finals

Sterling Township high school, a member of the North Central conference, has one of the 16 best basketball teams in the state of Illinois.

Coach Curtis Brandau's boys demonstrated this last night in a thrilling one-point victory, 27 to 26, over Kewanee in the finals of the Moline Sectional tournament as the winners came out of a slow first period to triumph.

Kewanee took the lead, 8 to 2, in the first canto, but the Sterling club trailed by only one point, 13 to 12, at the half. In the third stanza Sterling outscored Kewanee, 10 to 7, to take the lead. In the last frame the losers counted six points while the champions made five.

High scorer of the game was John Woodyatt of Sterling who made three field goals and three charity shots for nine points. Kucukas, Kewanee guard, made eight for his team.

Sterling will meet Athens at Pekin in the second game of the quarter-finals on Monday night.

Sixteen Teams to Compete in State Basketball Meets

(By The Associated Press)

Sixteen teams still have a chance to win the state high school basketball championship, but the game that may well decide the issue will be played in Centralia Monday night.

This is the battle which pits the host five, Centralia's high-scoring machine, against Paris High. Centralia and Dwight Edleman have won 40 straight games and Paris has won 23 in a row.

The winner will undoubtedly become a marked team in further title competition. Centralia, with Edleman scoring 13 points, rolled over the host team at the Mt. Vernon sectional last night, 48 to 28, and Paris eliminated Mt. Carmel, 55 to 40.

Champaign, which had won 26 of 28 games, fell out of the meet in last night's most surprising result, bowing to Urbana, 42-38. Mattoon reeled off its 16th straight victory with a 51 to 26 decision over Shelbyville at Effingham.

Waterman captured the Joliet sectional with a 30 to 26 triumph over Sheldon, last district tournament team to drop out of the championship race. This was Waterman's 28th win in 30 games.

Freeport Is Drawn

Freeport, defeated in the Rockford sectional by East Rockford, 20 to 19, got another chance in a draw to select the fourth team for the Elgin meet. The fourth spot was saved for a representative of the Chicago public school league, but this organization rejected a berth last Tuesday. Thus a team was picked by chance from the runners-up at the Joliet, Waukegan and Rockford sectionals. Freeport getting the spot.

The round of 16 in the little march finds four teams each at Elgin, Centralia, Pekin and Springfield Monday. Two games will be played in each spot Monday night followed by a final game Tuesday night.

The four survivors gather at Champaign next Friday for the championship semi-finals and finals on the University of Illinois floor.

Truancy Action in Court of Justice Brings Damage Suit

Henry Schamberger, Sublette township farmer, father of Henry, Marie and Donald Schamberger, minors, has filed a $15,000 damage suit in Lee county circuit court, naming Henry Roemmich, Robert Adams and Theodore Sondgeroth, directors of school district No. 100 as defendants. The suit is the outgrowth of a truancy action instituted against Schamberger, now pending in circuit court, in which he is charged with failure to send his children to school. The action was started in justice court and after a fine of $5 and costs had been imposed on the Sublette township farmer, an appeal was taken to circuit court.

In the complaint, Schamberger's attorneys, Mark C. Keller and W. H. Winn, make numerous allegations. Four counts are contained in the complaint, which charges that the defendant school directors failed to keep school district 100 in operation after Aug. 1, 1939. Malicious and wanton conduct is charged in depriving the Schamberger children of a right and opportunity to an equal education in the school; that the directors neglected to pay tuition in other schools within the district; that in September, 1940, the children were presented for enrollment in school district No. 89 in Lee Center township and the defendants refused to pay tuition; that the plaintiffs reside about two and one-half miles from the district 103 school in the village of Sublette, and the defendant directors neglected their duty in failing to provide proper transportation facilities.

In this count of the complaint, Schamberger charges that the conveyance provided was unsafe and dangerous, that it was without the required safety appliances, was not heated, was not provided with shatter-proof glass, that there were no windows on the side, that there was but one entrance door, that there was no step on the back and that the conveyance was operated by an unskilled and reckless driver who failed to abide by traffic regulations.

From the Albanian fighting front the Greeks reported Premier Mussolini's personal effort to spur Italian troops to victory had failed and that he must go back to Italy "covered with shame".

Earlier Greek dispatches said that Mussolini, arriving in Albania more than a week ago, had ordered his generals to "do something" by today, but Greek lines remained unbroken after six days of violent attacking apparently aimed at breaking the long stalemate in the Tepeleni sector.

Report American Arrested

An American newspaperman in Berlin, Richard C. Hottelet, was said by D. N. B., the official German news agency, to have been "arrested early today on strong suspicion of espionage in favor of an enemy power." The United Press has an employee of that name in its Berlin Bureau, but the New York headquarters of the organization said early this morning it had no direct confirmation of the D. N. B. story.

Authorized German sources declined to explain, except to assert, when questioned as to what "enemy power" was involved. "The trial will bring that out," Hottelet was formerly a resident of Brooklyn.

In Tokyo, the newspaper Asahi predicted momentous governmental and political changes in Japan on April 3 and reliable quarters said the possibilities included a single-party form of government and government control of all industries.

Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye was said to be heading up a "great East Asia league" with a program distinctively Japanese but based on the totalitarian models originated by Italy and Germany. Japan's partners in the axis.

Unions Split

Federation of Labor, emerged from a White House conference announcing that the A. F. of L. executive council unanimously favored creation of a mediation board which would provide a voluntary arbitration system.

Advanced by Advisers. The plan under consideration by the President was advanced by Labor Secretary Perkins and by William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, co-directors of the Office of Production Management. It was understood to provide for voluntary arbitration and for an 11-member board, composed of four representatives each for employers and employees, and three for the general public.

Roosevelt indicated he would reserve his decision until he talked to Murray and declined at his press conference to be drawn into discussions of possible appointees to the chairmanship. The names of Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican leader, and Bernard Baruch, New York financier, have been mentioned in this connection.

Meanwhile the railway labor mediation system, established by law, went into operation in an effort to obtain a peaceable settlement of a dispute between major carriers and 14 standard brotherhoods over paid vacations and wage matters.

The National Railway Mediation Board asked the brotherhoods yesterday to postpone the counting of strike ballots, which was set for today, and submit to mediation of their differences with the Companies.

Conference Fails

An all-day conference yesterday failed to effect a settlement of the strike of some 3,000 C. I. O. employees of the Aluminum Company of America plant at Edgewater, N. J.

The strike of 3,500 C. I. O. transport workers continued to tie up 95 per cent of Manhattan island's surface transportation system.

State Mediator Arthur S. Meyer threw up his hands at the end of the second day of negotiations and headed back to Florida to resume an interrupted rest.

A new strike was added to the list when 420 C. I. O. employees at the Harvill Aircraft Diecasting Corporation at Los Angeles walked out.

A. F. of L. Riggers and erectors at the Ingalls Shipbuilding Yards, Pascagoula, Miss., agreed to return to work Monday.

Also due back at work today were about 250 A. F. of L. building trades members who walked off a construction project at an army medical center near Washington, D. C., more than a week ago.

Gov. Arthur James of Pennsylvania ordered state policemen to the Bridgeville works of the Vanadium Steel Company to "give protection" for removal of two carloads of material from the strike-bound plant.

Organ Methodist Church

The organ committee of the Methodist church has been working on the selection of an organ for the sanctuary. Investigations have been made of various types of organs. The terms of one of the wills precludes the purchase of a so-called "electric organ"; but the committee has inspected pipe organs of the "direct electric" type.

Members of the committee traveled to the south side of Chicago on a Sunday afternoon to hear a Reuters two-manual organ of the size contemplated for the Franklin Grove church. Last evening committee members journeyed to Sterling for inspection of a Wicks organ.

Besides personal inspection there has been a great deal of correspondence with organ companies and chancel furnishing companies on types of organ, placement of console in chancel, position of organ chamber, etc. Representatives of organ and chancel furnishing companies have visited the church; and some have met with committee members.

F. G. H. S. Alumni

We have had so many fine reports on our former grads and the excellent positions that some of them have recently taken, that a few are listed in this issue. More at future date when the results of the recent follow-up survey are analyzed.

The class of 1931 has a lad that really is going places in the business world—none other than Willard Krehl. Willard is now secretary of the "Lenz Industrial Testing Laboratories, Inc., of Louisville, Ky. He finished his degree at Cornell College with a major in chemistry, then started at the bottom of the depression to get a job. After working as a paper salesman, and a term in the Northwestern Railway head office, Willard finally landed a job with a well known biological and chemical supply house.

In the short period of four years he rose to head of his sales force, having northern Illinois for his territory. Mr. Krehl's new position as secretary of the rapidly expanding Lenz laboratories came as a result of his excellent background in biological-chemistry and his ability as a salesman and contact man. As present he is in Washington conferring with the war department on government contracts.

Another grad who has made good in school and on the job is Julia Moulton of the class 1940. Julia has been attending the Metropolitan Business school of Rockford, where she ranks at the top of her class. Her opportunity came recently when she was given a permanent position doing cost accounting for the Nelson hotel. We wish her success in her new position.

The class of 1940 has placed one of their number in the woodwork industry. John Hatch has secured a fine position with the "Marine Boat Corporation" of Chicago. Close by are Frances Thomas and Marvin Brown, both who work for Armour and Company.

The class of 1939 will see one of their number leave for a job in the east very soon. Gerald Emmert expects to be with General Electric at an early date.

Alan Donelli, 155-pound half-back from Duquesne, may be a candidate for Jock Sutherland's Brooklyn Dodgers football team next fall. He would be one of the smallest players in the pro ranks.

Eno Slaughter, in his three years in the National league, has come out even in the matter of strikeouts and bases on balls. The St. Louis Car had 126 of each up to this season.

The 1940 Cincinnati Reds were the first team ever to rally from a 4-straight world series defeat and win the pennant the following year. Just to make it tough for future precedent-breakers the Reds took the Series, too.

Auhagen Arraignment Put Over Until Monday

Washington, March 15.—(AP)—Arraignment of Friedrich Ernst Auhagen on a charge of failing to register as a foreign agent, scheduled for Friday, has been postponed until Monday at his request. The United States attorney's office said that Auhagen was in Washington but had asked for additional time in which to arrange a new bond. OPPORTUNITY

By THE REV. B. NORMAN BURKE
Pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal Church

Lent is an opportunity—a golden opportunity of walking step by step with Christ through the valley of His last days. It is a valley of humiliation. John Bunyan's Christian Pilgrim said, "It is hard for a man to go down in the Valley of Humiliation", and he paraphrased an experience that is true to life. There will always be some people to whom religion is a surface thing, smearing on like talcum powder and brushing off just as easily; a thing of smiles and cheering platitudes. To such the experience of Lent does not appeal very strongly. This experience is for those more courageous souls who are strong enough to face and know the price of truth and the cost of service to our Divine Leader.

Lent gives us an opportunity to prove ourselves that we are still men and woman. We admire the person who when he has done something wrong is man enough to go to the person whom he has wronged and tell him about it. We know we can trust a person like that. You can forgive a person like that because you know he wants to be forgiven. I believe God admires that quality of honesty and truth in us as much as we admire it in others. Lent is our time to face the music. This is when we find out if we are men enough and women enough to go to God, look up into His face, and confess what we admit so glibly in this service for young and old. All members of the church are urged to attend an important business meeting Monday night at 7:45 p. m.
